Description		The foundations of Islamic worship are the foundation of Islamic jurisprudence and an introduction to its philosophy. In this course the student will have the opportunity to study a large part of the chapters of worship in a general and not in-depth form. The aim of the course Basics of Islamic Worship, as understood from the title itself, is to provide the student with an introductory knowledge about the main worships of the Islamic faith. This will enrich the study with preliminary information of the logic and philosophy of Islamic jurisprudence, which will be treated more developed in another semester. The student who is successful in this subject will be trained about the forms of worship and perform them in a correct form.
